ABSTRACT

Providing a comprehensive annotated listing of 193 publications on migrant education and related topics, this booklet is divided into five sections: (1) State Reports, (2) New York State/Bureau of Migrant Education, (3) National Farmworker Information Clearinghouse (NFIC), (4) Educational Resources Information Center/Clearinghouse on Rural Education and Small Schools (ERIC/CRESS), and (5) Miscellaneous. Guidelines for planning, implementing, and evaluating educational programs are contained under the "State Reports" section. Directories from the NFIC contain information on various services in addition to education, within states identifying major migrant populations. ERIC/CRESS materials provide comprehensive bibliographical data on many educational programs for migrant children. These resources contain information which may be helpful in enhancing program continuity, aiding referral to other state programs, and identifying research sources. Migrant project directors, their staff, and other interested persons may obtain these publications through the Migrant Program Communications Office free of charge, when possible. Publications which are in short supply may be borrowed and returned. (NQ)

RESOURCES IN MIGRANT EDUCATION

INTRODUCTION

Resources In Migrant Education has been compiled to provide a comprehensive, annotated listing of publications on migrant education and related topics from many sources. Migrant project directors, their staff, and other interested parties may obtain the publications contained herein through the Migrant Program Communications Office. When possible, copies are given free of charge. Publications which are in short supply may be borrowed and returned.

Guidelines for planning, implementating, and evaluating educational programs are contained under the STATE REPORTS section. Directories from the National Farmworkers Information Clearinghouse (NFIC) contain information on various services in addition to education, within states identifying major migrant populations. ERIC/CRESS materials provide comprehensive bibliographical data on many educational programs for migrant children.

In short, these resources contain information that may be helpful in enhancing program continuity, aiding referral to other state programs, and identifying research sources.

This directory is punched to fit a common three-ring binder. Sections are color coded to provide quick reference. When a new publication is identified and received, additional annotated listings will be provided.

The following bibliographies were compiled to provide access to some of the lastest resource materials, research finds and/or developments in the specific areas identified. (Mexican-American, Indian, Migrant, etc.)

-Selected Bibliographies in:

-Black Youth In The Rural South: 1977 - This report is aimed at attracting public attention to the rural Black youth and their problems and brings into question some of the unfounded stereotypes that exist about them. It contains a wealth of questions, ideas, and hypotheses to stimulate interest in researching this important and largely ignored segment of our youth population.

-Preservice Programs For Educational Personnel Going into Rural Schools - 1977 - It is the purpose of this report to: 1)Provide an overview of the problems teachers face in working in rural schools that point to a need for specialized preservice professional training and ongoing inservice education; 2) Review the history of teacher-training efforts during the past fifty years; 3) Identify some of the promising preservice and in-service programs that are specifically designed to improve the quality of teaching in rural schools; and 4) Recommend some steps that must be taken by teacher-training institutions if teachers are to be prepared to meet the needs of all youth.

-Preparing Teachers Of Mexican Americans: A Sociocultural and Political Issue - 1977 - This monograph focuses on the imperative for teacher preparation programs which purport to serve the needs of Mexican-Americans. The issues addressed include: 1) the problems and issues in equalizing educational opportunities in this country; 2) the state of the art in preparing teachers of Mexican Americans; and 3) the need for change and an alternative model.

-Directory of Information on Health Careers for American Indians-1977 - This publication provides a directory of information, resources, and career information on health careers for American Indians which may be used in pursuit of individual interests. A corollary reading that emphasizes additional background on health careers in "American Indian Health Careers Handbook"8 (ERIC Document Reproduction Service No. ED 125 828).

-Bilingual/BSL Programs for Migrant Children-1977 - This monograph is concerned with the development of special programs for Spanish speaking migrant children. Because these children are migratory, they have special social and physical needs, and programs developed for them cannot focus solely on academic needs and classroom activities. Comprehensive programs must consider and, if possible, include the family and the community in order to meet the needs of the children as completely as possible.
